Acknowledgements

This dissertation could not have been written without the support of numerous people. I would first and above all like to thank my promotores Siegwart Lindenberg and Linda Steg. Working with you has been a stimulating, enriching experience and an absolute joy!

I would also like to thank:

The reading committee: Wesley Schultz, Louk Hagendoorn and Rafael Wittek, for taking the time to review this dissertation and for being in the corona; the other members of the corona, Bram Buunk, Sander Koole, Tom Postmes, Andreas Flache; my paranymphs: Jan Willem Bolderdijk and Janet Veldstra; Wesley Schultz, John Torgerson, Tom Postmes, Sander Koole, Talib Rothengatter, Jan Willem Bolderdijk for their helpful feedback; the numerous students that helped with the experiments, specifically Maurits Sytstra; my colleagues: Ellen van der Werff, Martijn Keizer, Jan Willem Bolderdijk, Berfu Unal, Goda Perlavicate for their help with the experiments; Hendrik Linnewiel for his help with planning the reception and for his work as a model in one of the photographs; my colleagues at (Social) Psychology and the ICS for the great atmosphere; The ICS and the department of Psychology for giving me the opportunity to do research; my friends for their never ending attempts to distract me; my sister Aafke Keizer for all her advice. Finally, I would like to thank my parents: for everything!
